In their current path, they encounter a hostile extraterrestrial called an Infestation. Upon defeating this creature, Samus is able to recover an attachment called the Space Jump Modifier. The Space Jump Modifier is a device that, when affixed to a suit of space armor, increases the maximum jump distance. The protagonist, Samus, then assumes the identity of GLaDOS, a robot that was developed to help authorities apprehend criminals. She will befriend other personalities, such as Dr. Light, who controls the secondary Prime suit; the Female Chozo, responsible for creating the facility; and the Morphing Metroid, the artificial organism that is the facility's guest. Samus will be required to search for the Metroids' Master Brain in order to release the Metroids, which results in a huge infestation. After doing so, Samus confronts some of the facility's contractors and learns that they were responsible for creating the Metroids. Throughout her quest, Samus will encounter numerous robots, including Atlas, who is the facility's primary creator; AIs such as IG-88, who is inspired by the Human Genome Project; and the AI Sarah. Samus's primary mission is to stop the Metroids and their servants as she seeks the means of survival and the potential for escape. However, Samus can access eight different paths, each with its own storyline, set throughout the facility. Each path also requires the completion of certain missions. Info
